

Sandy Officers Participate in National Night Out Against Crime

On Aug. 3, the Sandy Police Department held its annual Night Out Against Crime event. With more than 1,200 people involved, the evening was a huge success.

National Night Out Against Crime is celebrated worldwide to heighten crime prevention awareness and strengthen the Neighborhood Watch program. Traditionally, Night Out Against Crime is celebrated by everyone turning on outdoor lights and taking flashlight walks through the neighborhood. Additionally, many neighborhoods organize area parties and cookouts to celebrate the evening and help emphasize the importance of safety.

This event is designed to: (1) heighten crime and drug prevention awareness; (2) generate support for, and participation in, local anticrime programs; (3) strengthen neighborhood spirit and police-community partnerships; and (4) send a message to criminals letting them know that neighborhoods are well organized and fighting back against crime.

This year, 22 Neighborhood Watch groups organized parties in their areas that allowed representatives from the Sandy Police Department to relay powerful information to residents through crime and drug prevention materials for parents along with badges, pencils and coloring books for the children.

The police department also spoke to residents about the resources they have in place to keep Sandy safe. From traffic safety to crime prevention, the Sandy Police Department works hard to keep Sandy one of the safest communities in the nation.

One of the most common crimes to take place in Sandy is the crime of opportunity. Most residents don't think twice about leaving their garage door open, but many criminals use this as an invitation. Homeowners can prevent becoming a victim by following the simple step of closing their garage door when

Sandy Police Officer Awarded Officer of the Year

Sandy Police Officer Bart Webb was honored at a reception in July as Utah's Officer of the Year by the Utah American Legion.

Bart started with Sandy City in 1990 where he worked in the animal services department and began his career in the police department in 1992. Bart currently serves as one of the crime scene technicians and is responsible for the Explorer program, where he has provided guidance for more than 18 years. Bart is passionate about the Explorer program and about helping guide youth in a personal and professional capacity. Bart was involved with the Explorer program at a young age and felt the positive benefits that helped to influence his life and wanted to reciprocate that influence to youth in the community.

Bart shares his story of why he entered into law enforcement:

"A friend of mine introduced me to the Sandy Police Explorer Program. After seeing the officers at work and seeing how they help people, I knew that I wanted to do this for a living. The turning point came when I was on a ride-along with an officer who was dealing with a young victim of a sexual assault. We were transporting this victim to a shelter. This officer stopped at Burger King and purchased this victim a meal so he would not go to the shelter hungry. He paid for it out of his own pocket. When I saw this act of compassion, I was sure that I wanted to be like him and help victims of crime."

Department Commander Fred Mason of the Utah American Legion presents Bart Webb with the Officer of the Year award.

Officer Webb has been instrumental in the education of police officers not only in Sandy but statewide in crime scene processing. New officers hired in the Sandy Police Department are required to attend Bart's eight-hour class. Through this process, more police officers are trained in the collection of evidence resulting in more successful prosecution of criminals.

Over the years, Bart continues to believe in what he does and why he does it. Bart's commitment to a work ethic continues to produce results that move the Sandy Police Department, city and community forward. His standard of work is something our police department can be proud of.

Congratulations to Officer Bart Webb.

Are You and Your Family Prepared in the Event of a Disaster?

September is National Preparedness Month. Flood, fire, earthquake, tornado ... are you and your family prepared in the event of a disaster? Need some helpful tips to get better prepared? National Preparedness Month was created in 2003 and is held each September to encourage Americans to take simple steps to prepare for emergencies in their homes, businesses, and communities. The 2010 slogan is "Plan Now, Work Together, Get Ready."

Events and activities across the nation encourage individuals to get an emergency supply kit, make a family emergency plan and get involved in preparing their communities to become better equipped to handle a disaster.

The following is a list of resources put in place for Sandy residents to use to become more prepared:

1. Sandy residents and others are invited to attend the Sept. 9 meeting of the Sandy City Citizen Corps Council held at 7 p.m. in the City Hall multipurpose room on the third floor. This monthly meeting held on the second Thursday of each month is the connection between Sandy City and residents with issues regarding emergency preparedness.
2. Download a copy of "Your Personal Disaster Preparedness Planner" from the Sandy City website at www.sandy.utah.gov/planner.
3. Enroll in Sandy's free eight-week CERT (Community Emergency Response Team) course by calling 801-568-2944.

Residents are encouraged to download their own copy of "Your Personal Disaster Preparedness Planner" at www.sandy.utah.gov/planner.

The CERT program educates people about disaster preparedness for hazards that may impact their area and trains them in basic disaster response skills, such as fire safety, light search and rescue, team organization and disaster medical operations.

4. Sign up for email notifications through the Sandy City website at www.sandy.utah.gov/emailnotices to receive important information on your email or cell phone in the event of a citywide disaster.

5. Visit www.bereadyutah.gov to create your own emergency plan for your family.

Hey Sandy...Take a Hike!

Hey Sandy...Take a Hike! (on one of our 63 miles of trails)

Sandy is the premier destination to take advantage of the Wasatch Front's array of recreation opportunities. We offer over 63 miles of trails with another 100 miles planned. Some of the trailheads in Sandy include: Bells Canyon, Rocky Mouth, Granite, Boulders, Hidden Valley and Quail Hollow.

If you are just beginning to venture into the world of hiking, there are a few basics you need to know. To ensure a safe hike, it is the hiker's responsibility to obtain the necessary equipment and to know the area you will be hiking. Here is a list of a few things you will need depending on the length of your hike: good hiking shoes (NO open-toed shoes), extra clothing, sunscreen, first aid kit, matches, map, compass, flashlight, a whistle, plastic bag for your garbage, mosquito repellent and plenty of water.

Tips for day hikes include: carry plenty of water, take more food than you will need, carry out whatever you pack in, acquaint yourself with the area, start slowly to avoid excess fatigue, check weather conditions before you leave and always let someone know where you are going and let them know when you return.

Most importantly, be careful and know your limits. If you don't feel comfortable on an advanced or intermediate trail, don't try it. Hike shorter and easier trails until you feel more experienced and comfortable with your hiking ability. Always carry a radio or cell phone for emergency purposes.

All of the mountain hikes in Sandy are within the designated watershed, which means no pets, no overnight camping permitted within 200 feet of open water and no swimming. Over 60 percent of the drinking water used by residents of Salt Lake Valley comes from canyons in the Wasatch Mountains. It is vital that water from these area watersheds be kept as clean as possible.

Please remember to use common sense, to plan ahead and stay away from potentially dangerous situations.

With Sandy as your "ultimate base camp," you can participate daily in observing wildlife, skiing, mountain biking, hiking and rock climbing in the beautiful mountains adjacent to our community. If you need a pocket-sized trails and map guide, please call us at 801-568-2900.
